ABIDING TIMES Tunku Zain Al-'Abidin Muhriz

This book comprises articles selected mainly from the author's column, Abiding Times, in theSun, Malaysia, as well as those with Tengku Zatashah Idris, Syed Haizam Jamalullail, Sharyn Shufiyan and Quek Sue Yian. Published between March 2008 and August 2010, they were written in the period after Tunku Zain's return from the US and up to the Proclamation of the 11th Yang di-Pertuan Besar. From calling for the checks and balances so crucial to the effective functioning of a democratic society to be strengthened, to reminding all participants in a democratic society of their rights and responsibilities, the writer writes in language that is easy to read and with a wry sense of humour.

William Hill:

As a pupil exactly feel bored to help reading. If their teacher asked them to go to the library or make summary for some reserve, they are complained. Just tiny students that has reading's soul or real their leisure activity. They just do what the teacher want, like asked to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading significantly. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring and can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is for being complicated. Book is very important for you. As we know that on this period of time, many ways to get whatever we want. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore , this ABIDING TIMES can make you experience more interested to read.
